

About

Established in London, 2013 by Thomas Hartnett.

GYMVERSUS is an active lifestyle brand that understands the need for clothing to do more.

Best known for their monochromatic capsule collections and hugely popular leggings; their easy-to-wear co-ordinating pieces and original prints are one of the reasons Drapers voted them "best upcoming activewear brand to bet on in 2018".

Also featured in Women's Health and Grazia magazine - they are expected to be one of the fastest growing brands in 2019.

"GYMVERSUS' monochrome palette makes it the perfect brand for minimalists," say Grazia's fashion team. "With plenty of integrated tech, their collection is both functional and fashion-conscious."

The GYMVERSUS philosophy is centred around simplicity, that less is more; with quality construction and co-ordinating designs that can be thrown on at any time with any item in-style to suit your active lifestyle.

Inspired by the need to simplify your wardrobe, each garment is designed to transition from work to the gym, seamlessly, without disrupting your personal style or athletic performance.

The brand believes sport is transformational not only for your body but your soul and has a vision to inspire others to participate.
